FARM BILL IS ON LAST LAPS OF VETO ROAD

Passed House Thurs- day After Fight; Veto Believed Sure

Washington, May 4—(AP)—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill today entered the last lap of its legislative journey to the White House.

For the second consecutive year the measure, with its disputed equalization fee for crop stabilization, was approved last night by the House. The vote was 204 to 121.

The bill now must go back to the Senate for a smoothing over of minor differences. These are expected to be ironed out quickly and President Coolidge then will be forced to pass again upon a farm relief plan containing a provision which prompted him to veto last year's bill.

The House vote was 13 less than the two-thirds majority that would be required to override presidential disapproval which administration leaders freely predict will be forthcoming. The Senate several weeks ago approved the measure in a slightly different form by a vote of 53 to 23, or a few votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

Final action by the House last night climaxed a week of hectic discussion during which the possible effect of the measure on the coming presidential campaign frequently was referred to. The debate at times also touched upon the presidential aspirations of Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, and Vice President Dawes.

The vote came after frantic but unsuccessful efforts had been made by opponents of the equalization fee to eliminate that provision, the battle continuing with unabated fury to the very last.

The vote on passage found party lines split asunder with 101 Republicans, 100 Democrats, two Farm-Labor members and one Socialist joining in support of the bill, while 68 Republicans, and 53 Democrats lined up in opposition.

Immediately before this, the House had rejected by a vote of 185 to 146 a motion by Representative Aswell of Louisiana, ranking Democrat on the House agriculture committee, which drafted the measure, to pass the bill as framed except with the elimination of the equalization fee machinery.

Caught House Napping

Aswell, long an opponent of the fee provision, two days ago caught the farm bloc unawares and succeeded in having the House express its disapproval of the fee by a vote of 141 to 120.

This unexpected reverse, however, spurred the farm camp to greater activity. Reforming its shattered lines, this group got the whip hand at the outset of yesterday's proceedings and held it to the end. With the exception of changes approved by Chairman Haugen of the agriculture committee and co-author of the bill, all amendments were turned down.

The proposals offered exceeded a score in number, but of these only three were approved. They provided:

Extension of the right to cooperative associations to decide, through the commodity advisory councils that the bill would create, when the equalization fee would be placed in operation.

Application of the fee machinery to packers as well as livestock raisers whenever it might be put in operation upon cattle and swine—offered by Representative Jones, Democrat, of Texas.

Selection of the members of the proposed advisory councils from lists of names to be submitted by Governors or states as well as cooperatives and other farm organizations.

The House bill differs from the Senate measure in that it does not exempt beef and beef products from fee operation.

Loan Only To Co-ops.

An unsuccessful effort was made by Representative Brand, Democrat, Georgia, to have the loan privileges of the bill apply to farmers who are not members of cooperative associations. To carry out the loan-to-cooperative proposal the bill would authorize an appropriation of $400,000,000. This would be known as the revolving fund, and its use would be controlled by the Federal Farm Board the bill would create.

During the long debate opponents contended that the bill would receive a presidential veto upon two points at least—the equalization fee and the provisions dealing with the right of the farm board to enter into marketing agreements.

Supporters, however, took a different view. They argued that nine specific changes had been made to meet objections set forth by Mr. Coolidge in his veto message on the last year's bill. These revisions, with the exception of the fee machinery, they said, eliminated everything to which the President was opposed.

The loan system, they said, was

"BULLS" PLUNGE INTO TRADES IN WALL ST. TODAY

Send Many Issues to New High Records
as a Result

BY STANLES W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, May 4—(AP)—Wall Street "bulls" plunged into the stock market today and boosted more than three score issues to record high prices.

Gains in the active issues ranged from $2 to nearly $12 a share. Buying orders poured onto the floor of the exchange in such large volume that the ticker fell more than half an hour behind, with every indication early afternoon that the day's sales would run well over 4,000,000 shares.

The average of 20 leading industrial and 20 leading railroad issues compiled by The Associated Press mounted to record high levels.

Retention of the 4 per cent rediscountrate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank in the face of an increase in brokers' loans to record high levels, started the wild outburst of bullish enthusiasm.

Buying became more frenzied as the session drew to a close. Blocks of 10,000 shares or more of medium and low-priced issues were absorbed, prices in many instances surpassing all previous high records.

Airplane issues competed strenuously with General Motors for leadership of the closing market, when many industrials and specialties were quoted from $5 to $12 a share beyond their previous close. Central of New Jersey and Texas & Pacific were the most conspicuous in the railroad group, each advancing $6 a share.

Mrs. A. P. Robbins, mother of Mrs. Webster Poole, has been quite ill for the past few days with bronchitis, and is confined to her bed.

The women of Dixon and vicinity are reminded to arrange their calendars of social activities so they can keep the afternoons of May 8, 9, 10 and 11 open for The Dixon Evening Telegraph's second annual free cooking school, which will be conducted in Downham hall on those days. The school this year will be bigger and better in every respect.

Those friends of the Girl Scouts who promised to mail such checks are urged to do so at once, in order that the Council may record them, tabulate the returns and ascertain just what situation they face.

Checks may be mailed to Mrs. E. H. Prince, 709 E. Second street.

U. S. SUBMARINES AT TSINGTAO TO PROTECT YANKEES

BULLETIN

Tsingtao, May 4—(AP)—The United States Submarine depot ship Beaver and six submarines arrived here today.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Anti-foreign outbreaks at Tsinan-Pu, Shantung province, which may have surpassed in seriousness those at Nanking more than a year ago, have resulted in heavy casualties among Chinese and Japanese troops, dispatches from China and Japan indicated today.

Tokyo dispatches say that as forty of their soldiers have been killed in fighting there, while Chinese dispatches to Shanghai give the Chinese dead from Japanese machine gun fire at 100 with a large number of wounded.

In Tokyo the situation is regarded as most serious and four warships have been dispatched to Tsingtao, the coast terminus of the railroad to Tsinan. Other warships have been dispatched to Yangtze ports and other South China ports where Japanese Nationals live to protect them in the event the Tsinan trouble has repercussions elsewhere.

The trouble at Tsinan is said to have started following lesser anti-Japanese outbreaks when Japanese troops attempted to disarm the Chinese. Scanty dispatches which filtered from the city did not indicate whether the Japanese troops, not known to number over 2,000 at Tsinan, have taken an organized stand against 20,000 Nationalist troops said to have invaded the city, or just encountered small organized bands.

That this latter may be the real case is indicated in continued reports that the Nationalist troops are out of control of their generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek, and have been guilty of extensive looting and other reprisals in the city, which they took from the northerners only early this week.

The situation as Tsinan held the Chinese news spotlight with the Northern forces apparently attempting to form a new line of defense north of shantung province and well into Chili province.

Shanghai, China, May 4—(AP)—Reports from Tsinan say that Japanese armored trains laden with reinforcements have left Tsingtao for Tsinan.

Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, chief of the Northern forces, is reported to have expressed his regret at the clash between the Japanese and the Nationalists at Tsinan and to have offered to assist the Japanese with arms and ammunition.

This offer the Japanese declined with the explanation that they intended to suppress the outrages without help from other parties.

MAKE THE HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETE.

On Saturday of this week, between the hours of 12 noon and 7 p.m., the voters of the school district will decide by their ballots whether the new high school is to be fully equipped, commodious and adequate school or just a poor imitation of a modern school. An additional bond issue of $180,000 is needed to complete the building as it should be and as the needs of the school district demand. The voting of this bond issue will not raise your tax rate. It cannot, for the rate is at the legal limit now.

It is an important issue. Your vote is needed if the school bonds are to carry. Make it your business, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, to vote Saturday afternoon, and vote for better school conditions for the students of this school district.

TO LIMIT COMMISSION'S POWER.

Legislation to prevent the interstate commerce commission from fixing any but maximum rates for railway freight charges is on the way. It is interesting to know that the commission has recently interpreted its power as covering both maximum and minimum rates and has so applied them in one quite notable case.

Congressman Peery is the author of the move to confine regulation of rates to maximum charges. His decision has been reached as a result of the lake cargo case which has already cost one number of the interstate commerce commission his chance of reappointment. Senators who viewed the action of the commission in the lake cases with disapproval refused confirmation of the reappointment of Commissioner Esch.

It is held by opponents of the commission's stand in the now celebrated large cargo case that there are instances where to deny to the carriers the right to reduce their rates is to work a hardship upon industry and commerce. When the regulation of transportation lines was first proposed the idea was to prevent them from charging too much. It did not occur to congress that as grave damage might be caused by refusal to allow them to charge less than the approved tariffs. Such is declared to be the results of the lake cargo case, however, where a monopoly is said to have been created through the exercise of the commission's power to prevent certain rail lines from meeting the rates charged by other roads. Hence the determination of Congressman Peery to insist the commission's rate-making powers be confined to maximum charges.

In Oregon is a man who can chew fifty sticks of gum at one time and play a cornet. Pshaw! We'll bet he can't even sit on a flagpole while swimming the English channel and eat fifty flapjacks and drink 100 cups of coffee on the way!

Ed. Howe used to say that the only thing an editor could attack with impunity was the man-eating shark. Now Van Campen Heilner returns from the Bahamas and says he swam among man-eating sharks all day long and they didn't touch him. Guess Ed. will have to take in his sails a little.

AMBOY AFFAIRS

Amboy—An Friday, April 27, Amboy Masonic Lodge No. 178 held an afternoon and evening meeting. Four candidates were given the third degree. Arthur A. Tuttle W. M. and his team put on the work. In other years it has been the custom of visiting teams put on the work. A number of Masons from out of town were present. Some from Dixon, Sublette, Lee Center, and Earlville, about 85 in all being present. At 6:30 the Eastern Star ladies served a banquet to the Masons.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Smith, Charles E. Entorf and daughters Minnie and Mabel motored to Dixon Tuesday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late George Anderson, who died recently in Chicago, at the home of his sister Mrs. Ed Daehler at 5743 West Erie St.

Miss Celetta Barlow left Monday morning for Normal, Ill., where she is attending school, after spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barlow.

We hear that building operations are soon to begin on the new library that he had almost begun to think was a dream. Beyond a doubt the present rather small number of subscribers will be greatly enlarged when the new building is completed.

The Alumnae Bridge club met for another of its bi-monthly meetings Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Charlotte Schott. The first prize, a pair of beautifully engraved book ends was awarded to Ruth McMahn, while the consolation, a condiment set went to Mildred Reinhold. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess, after which the girls departed having thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

George K. Tuttle and Arthur A. Tuttle were Compton business callers Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Smith, Mrs. William Hanna and Mrs. Robertson motored to Paw Paw Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Shultz, formerly of Dixon. The funeral services were held at her home.

Mrs. L. E. Bates, and Mrs. A. F. Anderson charmingly entertained the O. E. S. Embroidery Club Thursday afternoon in the Masonic Temple building.

George Bates and daughter Mrs. S. M. Goode returned from Chicago Tuesday, where they had gone a few days previous to visit Mrs. Herbert Morris, another daughter of Mr. Bates.

Miss Emma Sauter, who has for some time been confined to her bed, suffered a stroke Wednesday noon, and early Thursday morning passed quietly away. Mrs. Winnie Canavan had been nursing Miss Sauter for several weeks. She is survived by a nephew, William Edson of Nebraska. She had reached the age of 78 in November last.

Then a stream of notes. Imploring me to see him. Threatened to bombard me until I gave in. I got kind of nervous after awhile thinking about how it would look to Alan if Pede kept on sending flowers and epistles all evening. So I had to let him in.

You can score one, Mom. For this time you guessed right. Handling a South American is not the same as blowing bubbles with a boy like Billy. He'd just been waiting for me to give him a signal, it seemed. But when I told him we must stop seeing each other he knew it was time to speak or keep silent forever after.

Cross my heart I had no idea he was batty about me. But when he did say it he didn't stop with flowers. He had a few gestures to make, too.

To tell the truth, I don't think he meant a word of it, though I never heard such a stream of loving language in my short but not colorless life. I couldn't take him seriously because I'm sure I'd have known it if he'd been really losing his head over me.

Well, I got him out finally but he says he won't give me up. I hope he won't be a menace.

Dearest love,
MARYE

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Thirty-five dollars in prize money and valuable plants will be awarded in the Better Yard and Garden Contest to be sponsored by the Rochelle Garden Club assisted by the Chamber of Commerce. Any family, child or adult residing within the city limits of Rochelle, either owner or renter may enter their home grounds or garden plot in this contest. The main requirement is that the entrant do all or part of the work. You don't have to be a landscape architect or an authority on flowers to win the contest. The entrant with a large yard and garden and a beautiful and valuable home has no better chance to win than the entrant with a small yard and garden. It is also not necessary to have several rare and expensive plants. Neatness, evidence of care and pleasing appearance of the yard and garden are the points that will be considered. The entrant must enter the complete plot in the contest. Anyone with a vegetable or flower garden apart from the home may enter that plot in the contest as long as that plot has over a 50 foot frontage and 125 foot depth. The yards and gardens will be judged by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce together with the garden club committee. They will be judged three times during the summer, about June 1st, July 15th and September 1st. This is done so the condition of the gardens over a period of four months will decide the contest.

The three entrants having the best yard and garden or garden plot throughout the season will receive cash awards of $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00. The entrant having the best yard and garden each time that the judges inspect them will receive $5.00 worth of garden plants and material. In addition to all these valuable prizes the garden club offers this inducement. All Garden Club members are listing with their plant secretary all the annual and perennial plants that they will give to any person interested and entered in the contest. Call 260 R. 3 for plant secretary.

The yard and garden will be judged on these four points:

Maintenance, neatness and evidence of care; arrangement of plot entered; beauty and pleasing appearance; im-

QHow many apples does Illinois produce? Is it much of a producer of commercial apples?

R. T. S. Waukegan.

A—Illinois is a large producer of apples for the market. For the three years of 1924, 1925 and 1926 this state averaged to ship 6,168 carloads of apples. This does not count the less than car lots or shipments by motor trucks. In 1927 the crop was smaller. Calhoun county is planted up to produce about 1,000,000 barrels a year and is the biggest apple district in the state. Early apples are produced in the hills of southern Illinois, chiefly in Union and Johnson counties. There is in Johnson county a single planting of 10,000 yellow transparent trees, the largest block of this variety in the world.

ADVANCED IDEAS OF DAIRYING ARE SHOWN VISITORS

Utley Farm is Scene of Unusual Demonstration on Thursday

The most advanced ideas in dairy farming, particularly the milking of a herd of the finest cattle in northern Illinois, attracted a large crowd to the Utley farm south of the city on state highway route 89, yesterday afternoon where the visitors were the guests of the Dixon Dairy from 4 until 6 o'clock. To each of the visitors a quart of milk, bottled under the latest known sanitary conditions and covered with a new type of cap, was given. A hundred quarts of milk were passed out and some who registered late were cared for today.

The cattle barn was the center of attraction. Here the visitors watched the feeding of the herd of 28 fine Guernsey cattle and Jerseys on a balanced ration. The task of milking the herd was the next and most important number on the afternoon program and attracted the attention of all who took this opportunity to visit the farm, which is to become a show place of this section of the country, and observe the most modern method of sanitary milk production.

Individual Milking

A force of experienced and trained herdsmen performed this operation. The Surge system of milking is used on the Utley farm and this proved highly interesting. A large aluminum container with a capacity of about three gallons, is suspended from an adjustable belt which is placed about the animal. The tubes are adjusted, compressed air is attached and the attendant leaves the animal to adjust another milker, returning when the animal is milked, removing the container and the task is completed. The milk from each animal is weighed separately and a record kept of each member of the herd. The milking is done at 5 o'clock in the morning and again at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The containers are entirely covered, leaving no possible opportunity for dirt or any foreign matter to enter and mix with the milk. After being weighed, the milk passes through a combination cooler and strainer and into large cans. The entire output of milk from the Utley farm is utilized by the Dixon Dairy and is much in demand. The sanitary methods of production from the fine herd and the rich content of the milk have created a huge demand locally for the product, which is also made into butter and cottage cheese.

A city depot and distributing station is maintained in the Hotel Dixon building on West First street. Visitors are invited and are welcome to visit and inspect the Utley farm at any time and inspect these modern methods of sanitary milk production from a valuable herd of Guernsey and Jersey cattle.

(Oval) Jean Henri Dunant, who first conceived the idea of permanent national volunteer societies to provide relief in war and disaster. May 8th is the centenary of Dunant's birth.

(Right) "The Samaritan of Solferino," a painting representing Dunant as a volunteer Red Cross worker aiding wounded on the field of battle.

T HE one hundredth anniversary of the birth in Geneva, Switzerland, of Jean Henri Dunant, the great humanitarian who gave to the world the idea and vision on which the Red Cross is founded, will be observed on May 8 in fifty-six countries. Twenty million persons are enrolled under the banner of the Red Cross.

The clash of the Franco Sardinian and Austrian armies on June 24, 1859, on the plains of Lombardy, when 360,000 men were engaged in hand-to-hand fighting on a ten-mile front and 40,000 were wounded and dead at the close of the 15-hour struggle, created the idea in Dunant's mind.

While traveling in Lombardy Dunant came, late in the day, upon the battlefield. He was "moved to compassion, to pity, to horror" by the dead and dying, and hastened to the nearby village of Castiglione, where he persuaded peasant women and girls to return with him to succor the wounded.

For days he labored in this relief work, until all were under shelter and medical aid given them. Later he wrote his impressions of the semi-barbaric negligence of the wounded in a pamphlet, "Un Souvenir de Solferino." It was printed in 1862. In this book, he urged formation of societies for the neutralization of wounded, hospitals and medical personnel and for use of an identical flag by all nations to designate medical service in war.

A formal diplomatic convention in 1864, embodied the resolutions in the Treaty of Geneva. In 1881 under President Arthur the United States signed the Treaty.

Dunant lived to see a Red Cross society in almost every nation, and died at 82 years of age in Heiden, Switzerland, where he had lived in seclusion many years. In 1907, the Norwegian Parliament awarded him one-half of the first Nobel Peace Prize.

The principles suggested by Dunant in the sixties of the last century are today a part of the articles of the International Red Cross treaty and are the major task of the Red Cross and medical aid given them.

The first international convention was held in Geneva in 1863, attended by representatives of sixteen countries. It adopted resolutions to neutralize wounded, hospitals and medical personnel and for use of an identical flag by all nations to designate medical service in war.

The interior of the building is of skeleton construction. The interior partitions are in general non-supporting and extend only from floor to ceiling and may be removed at any time without disturbing the balance of the construction.

With the exception of the heating plant the entire building is to be placed upon a concrete pile foundation that will extend through the alluvial and silt top surface soils to the more secure gravel beds below, providing a firm foundation for the building.

PRESIDENTIAL PORTRAITS

The Story of George W. Norris

EDITOR'S NOTE: This, the 23rd of a series of Presidential Campaign Portraits, tells the story of Senator W. Norris of Nebraska. Tomorrow's article will discuss Senator Walter F. George of Georgia.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, May 4—With Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska one may disagree, one may believe that he is mistaken, but no one who really knows him can ever for a moment doubt his sincerity of purpose or cease to respect him.

For Norris—Independent, insurgent, irreconcilable or whatever you want to call him—is almost everything that the public expects a senator to be, and which a lot of them aren't. Even his opponents in the Senate (he has no enemies there) admire the rugged fearlessness of this man whom the La Follette forces have chosen to wear their dead leader's crown in the 1928 fight for the Republican presidential nomination.

But this veteran, who has grown gray during his 25 years in House and Senate, is under no illusions. "There isn't a chance of my being made the Republican party's candidate for president," he smiles.

Probably the best description ever given by Senator Norris was written by Ray Clapper, noted Washington correspondent.

"Cynics have a grand time dissecting politicians in Washington until they encounter George W. Norris," Clapper wrote. "That always spoils everything, for how are they going to be cynical over man that doesn't wear any scenery, who blurs out everything that he thinks, scorns patronage, taunts the machine and even campaigns against his own party—and flourishes politically all the while?"

That is Senator Norris—honest of purpose, fearless of punishment, indifferent to party ties, and slender of purse, who lives modestly in Methodist boarding house near the capitol on his salary as a senator.

"If I ever inherited a million dollars," he once smiled in the course of a personal conversation, "I think I would go to a first-class restaurant and find how it feels to order a first-class meal without looking at the price figures on the menu card."

But Senator Norris is not opposed to wealth honestly acquired and honestly used—the fable of the fox and the grapes does not apply in his case. Only when it is dishonestly acquired, as in the case of Teapot Dome, and dishonestly used to oppress the less fortunate, does he object. And then his voice in the Senate becomes thunder.

That explains his relentless fight on the power lobby, the "bread trust" and many of his other battles.

He is engagingly frank. For 10 years he has fought to keep Muscle Shoals out of private hands and conserve this great natural resource for the people through government operation. He admits that this is a dream. He knows that the cards are stacked against him. But he keeps on fighting, hoping that some day the nation will see the light.

Personally, Norris is one of the most likable of senators. Courteous, genial and candid, he never tries, when interviewed, to hide behind that famous "Now-don't-quote-me-on-this" line. Anything that Senator Norris says, he is perfectly willing for the world to hear.

Although past 65, he looks much younger. His hair is gray, his eyebrows are black, his eyes are deep set, his face is broad, his manner is affable, his smile contagious. His shirts and neckties incline toward a rather loud hue. He smokes cigars—lots of them—and, unlike many men who are prominent, can enjoy a good story as well as tell one.

He is now rounding out 25 years in Washington, having been elected to the House in 1902 and to the Senate in 1912.

Party ties rest lightly upon Senator Norris. Theoretically, he is a Republican, but actually he is a Norrissian. All of which means that he does what he pleases politically, regardless of whether his course takes him into the camp of the Republicans, the Democrats or the Progressives. One thing is certain—he will always be found in the direction to which the liberal winds inclines.

Though a Republican, he led the historic fight to overthrow "Uncle Joe" Cannon's czarism in the House in 1910 and succeeded. He changed the House rules and thereby accomplished one of the greatest reforms in the history of American politics.

Of course, there was a price to pay. Taft cut off his patronage. Republican leaders disowned him. Politically, he was an outcast in Washington. But the people of Nebraska felt differently; two years later they promoted him to the Senate.

The same independence has characterized his course there. He even voted against the declaration of war against Germany and today he is the only member of "the wilful twelve," as Woodrow Wilson branded them, who is still in the Senate.

In 1926 after the exposure of the Vare scandal in Pennsylvania, he took the stump for Vare's Democratic opponent.

Senator Norris and Senator Borah are often mentioned in the same breath as champions of progressivism, but between their political records is a gulf that is abysmal.

The explanation is this: Borah has won renown for his battles AGAINST measures. Norris, in addition to that, has won renown for his battles FOR measures.

He has waged one of the greatest legislative fights in history for government operation of Muscle Shoals. He has made a tireless fight, now apparently near victory, for a "lame duck" amendment to put an end to legislating by congressmen who have been discredited by their constituents and who are merely finishing out their terms. He is now fighting for an investigation of the Salt Creek oil leases.

There is a lot of romance and color in Norris' life.

Born on a farm in Ohio, his father died when he was barely out of infancy, leaving the family an estate of only $200. He attended public schools and then worked his way through Baldwin University, teaching certain classes.

In those days the west was beckoning and Norris went there to seek his career. In what was then the territory of Washington, he became a roving teacher for the children of frontier families, but fortune failed to smile upon him there so he came back. He settled in Cook, Nebraska, and began the practice of law.

Two years later he was prosecuting attorney, then he was a judge for eight years and in 1902 he was elected to Congress.

He has been in Washington since.

TRACK TEAMS OF EIGHT SCHOOLS IN TOMORROW'S MEET

Annual Conference Out-door Meet Will be Held Saturday

The eight schools, Sterling, Rock Falls, Dixon, Amboy, Morrisville, Rockwell, Mendota and Mt. Morris have all entered the Rock River conference track meet to be held at the Community Athletic park in Sterling tomorrow. A total of 130 athletes are entered and the rivalry in the various events will be very keen.

It will be necessary to hold preliminaries in all the dash and hurdle events and these will be run off at 10 o'clock in the morning. The afternoon program will start promptly at 1:45 p.m. Patrons can attend the preliminaries if they care to and get return checks for the afternoon.

The various coaches are endeavoring to place their men in the events in which they are the best qualified and are passing up some of the other events in order to capture points in the ones they select.

Eric C. Wilson, former University of Iowa runner, will be referred and starter. He will also stage an exhibition run of perhaps 175 yards.

Wilson was a member of the American Olympic team of 1924; one of the four American runners to compete in the 400-meter event at Paris. He won the Western conference and national collegiate 220-yard dash championships twice each. He was former holder of the Western conference 220-yard dash record :21.2 (straightaway). Wilson was anchor man on the University of Iowa mile relay team which set the American inter-collegiate record of 3:16.9. His best times are as follows: 100-yard dash, :09.8; the 220-yard dash, :21.2; and the 440-yard dash :47.8.

The east has won the first inter-sectional struggle of the current National League pennant chase.

Getting the jump on the rest of the field in the first invasion of the west, the Boston Braves scuttled the Pittsburgh Pirates in the Corsairs' own waters yesterday, 5 to 4, in 11 innings.

Had Ed. Brandt, rookie left hander from Seattle, been given the support his pitching deserved, the Braves would not have had to go extra innings to win. Errors by Doc Farrell in the second and seventh innings gave the Pirates two unearned runs and a chance to carry the contest past the ninth inning.

A single by Brown, sacrifice by Bell and a one-base blow by Farrell gave the Braves the winning run in the eleventh.

Good pitching by Flint Rhem enabled the Cardinals to end their four-game losing streak at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 5, at St. Louis. Rhem kept the Reds' nine hits—one a home by Walker—scattered enough to prevent Cincinnati from overcoming a five-run lead the Cards piled up off Eppie Rixey in the first two innings. Pete Donohue, reformed holdout, succeeded Rixey in the third and held the Cards to five hits and one run in five innings. Edwards finished for the Reds and the last St. Louis run was scored off him. Douthit and Blades handled 13 put-outs in the St. Louis outfield.

All other Natural League clubs had an open date as did six of their American League brethren.

The one American league contest saw the Philadelphia Athletics' seven-
